A note from Sue Swales about the 'STING IN THE TAIL', which would generate lively discussion at the end of the rally:

If you went the wrong way in Bossall, don't worry you are amongst friends, including me! A few years ago we took part in a North Yorkshire Classic HRCR rally and we missed a TC. We were travelling in the opposite direction to this little challenge! I couldn't understand how we could have missed it as I was convinced I had plotted it correctly, taking the shortest route travelling from the south and turning right. It was a section, like this one for the VSCC, that involved map symbols and it mentioned a church. The HRCR convention is that the symbol has to touch the road rather than just pass it unlike with VSCC rallies. Unless I've been mistaken all these years which could explain a great deal!! I naturally thought that as we passed the church then that was fine, not noticing that the cross of the church on the map was actually touching the road leading NNW not the other road. You will notice that all map symbols on this section all touch the road or go through it. Fair cop or would you argue that we should stick to the VSCC Convention?!!!
